Sidney Jones is founder and director of the Jakarta-based Institute for Policy Analysis of Conflict. From 2002 to 2013, she was with the International Crisis Group's Asia program, as Southeast Asia director and then as senior adviser. From 1977-2002, Sidney variously worked with the Ford Foundation, Amnesty International and Human Rights Watch.

Clearing House for Archival Records on Timor Inc locates non-government archives about East Timor, 1974-1999, to preserve them for access by future generations of Australian and East Timorese researchers, educators and students.
